

In'to Languages

Online Academic Writing Tool

teaching groups and individuals how to best present their research in writing

opens up new worlds

Overview

A modular online learning tool for academic writing

For use in blended courses and individual learning

Interactive tool with immediate feedback

Addresses a range of academic writing topics

Allows for assembly of materials that match learning needs and discipline

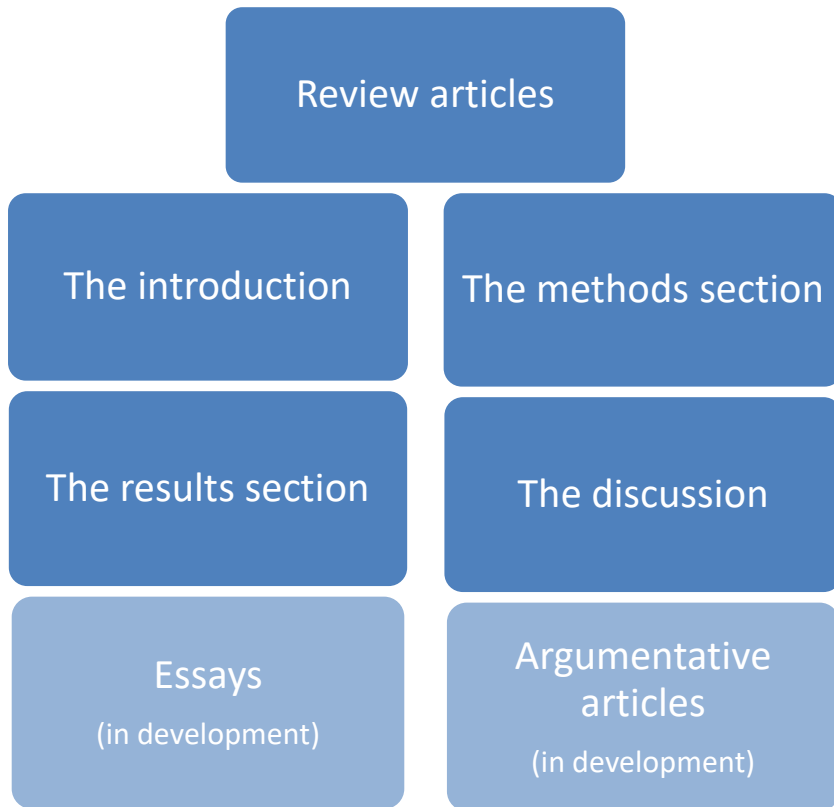

Maximal exposure to authentic examples

Learner Analytics provide feedback and guidance

Developed by our academic language and communication experts

Modules

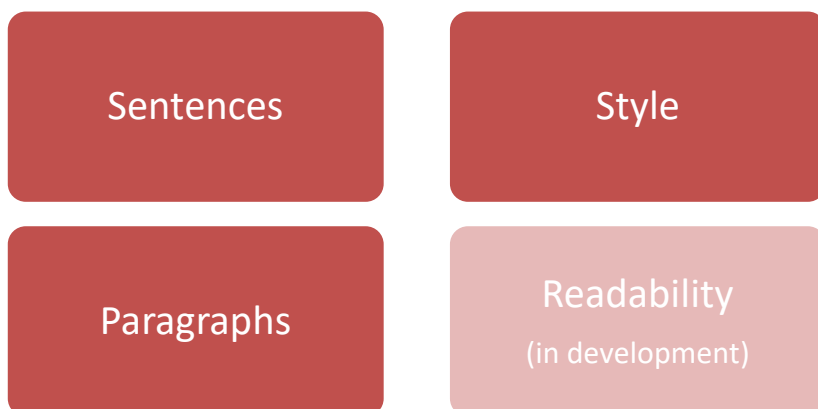

1. Genre

Participants learn for each text or text part

- what information is presented
- how to present it in the most positive light
- which language features and style are associated with it

2. Language and style

Participants learn the finesses needed to present their research in a professional and accessible way.

3. Language development for academic writing

Sentence essentials

Verbs

Nouns and articles

Advanced sentence structures

For participants who struggle with the English language while needing to publish their research. The modules have been developed for speakers of languages that, for example, express time or definiteness very differently than English.

Theory and tasks

Theory

Short reading activities covering 'theory'. These contain explanation and examples from a wide variety of disciplines.

Tasks

Learners receive immediate feedback and explanations. Tasks are built around extracts from recently published articles.

Field-specific Tasks

Different tasks available from:

- a mix of different fields
- medicine, biomed sci
- life sciences
- psychology
- linguistics and com

In'to Languages offer

	Stand-alone	Stand by your side	Local blended course	Long distance blended course
Online modules	✓	✓	✓	✓
Individual written teacher feedback		✓	✓	✓
Group sessions			✓	✓
Online individual sessions				✓

info@into.ru.nl
dr. Caro Struijke c.struijke@let.ru.nl

Presented at:
THE EIGHTH INTERNATIONAL CONFERENCE ON WRITING ANALYTICS Winterthur Switzerland, 5-6 September 2019
<https://writinganalytics.zhaw.ch>